REGIMENTAL REUNION

Survivors of the Famous 141st Regiment Meet at Monroeton.

EIGHTY COMRADES PRESENT.

Interesting Program Carried Out, Splendid Addresses Were Made and a Most Enjoyable Time Had—Officers Elected.

The survivors of the famous One Hundred and Forty-First regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers, have met again. The men who faced the bullets of the foe back in the dark days of the sixties, they who saw their comrades fall around them like grain before the reaper, have assembled again, not to march on the enemy, but to shake hands and recount the thrilling incidents which they experienced during the civil war. The 24th annual reunion of this regiment which played such an important part in putting down the rebellion, was held at Monroeton Wednesday, and like the 23 previous meetings was a grand success in every way. Eighty members of the regiment were in attendance, besides a large crowd of interested sightseers.

Officers Elected.

The meetings were held in the Presbyterian church, and were presided over by the president. In the forenoon, the business session was held, during which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Capt. G. W. Kilmer; first vice president, D. J. Sweet; second vice president, Hon. George R. Resseguie of Harford, Susquehanna county; secretary, Rev. David Craft of Angelica, N. Y.; treasurer, John A. Allen. During the morning session, D. J. Sweet introduced a resolution expressing the disapproval of the surviving members of the regiment of Governor Stuart's veto of the state soldiers' pension bill. The resoution was adopted unanimously. A resolution to accept into membership the wives and families of the survivors was voted down the members deciding to keep the membership confined solely to the men who composed the regiment. This resolution had been carried over from last year's meeting. It was decided to hold the next reunion in Wyalusing.

Excellent dinners were served to the veterans and their families at the Summers House, and Hinman House, Landlords Wilcox and Meredith leaving nothing undone toward caring for the crowds.

Afternoon Meeting.

The open meeting in the afternoon, commenced with an address of welcome by Dr. O. H. ockwell, with response by C. T. Hull of Athens. Rev. J. D. Bloodgood of Washington, D. C., an official of the pension department offered prayer after which Rev. David Craft delivered an address on the part taken by the 141st regiment in the battle of Sailors creek, on April 6, 1865. The reverend gentleman, in his usual eloquent and interesting manner recited the incidents of that battle, and drew a beautiful word picture of the terrible scenes of strife, in the midst of which was the 141st regiment.

Rev. Craft was followed by Rev. Bloodgood who delivered a short but interesting address, after which he introduced a resolution of thanks to everyone who helped make the reunion a success. A number of the veterans also made brief addresses. A feature of the afternoon meeting was the singing of Mrs. Resseguie, and the recitations by young ladies. Veterans led by Capt. G. W. Kilmer sang as they did in the days of war, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," and "Marching Through Georgia."

At the close of the afternoon exercises, a number of the veterans went to the ball ground and witnessed the game of baseball, while some started home, and others stopped awile to visit with old comrades. All together the reunion was very enjoyable, and the surviving members of the regiment are pleased indeed with the successful meeting and large attendance of the gallant veterans who composed the famous 141st.

Home Destroyed By Fire.

The residence of William M. Kelley of Forks, was destroyed by fire at noon last Friday. Mr. Kelley had gone to Laquin. Two sons were sick in bed. At noon Mrs. Kelley discovered the roof and garret over the kitchen in a mass of flames and by the time the neighbors got there very little furniture could be saved. The fire must have originated from a spark from the chimney. The loss to Mr. Kelley is heavy.—Dushore Herald.

Improvements at Bucknell.

The new building for men at Bucknell University is nearly ready for use. The first story contains the electrical laboratory with a floor space of 5,363 square feet. Additions to the electrical apparatus have been made through the liberality of Samuel A. Crozer of Chester.

DESTRUCTIVE BLAZE.

Louis Piollet's Saw Mill in Wysox Township Burned Thursday

$4,000 LOSS—NO INSURANCE.

About Three Thousand Dollars Worth of Lumber Devoured by the Flames Which Originated in the Boiler Room.

Fire originating in the boiler room, completely destroyed the saw mill on the Louis Piollet farm on Shores Hill in Wysox township about four o'clock Thursday morning. The flames spread to the lumber piles nearby and devoured over $3,000 worth of sawed lumber. The entire loss is placed at $4,000 with no insurance.

The mill had been in operation on Wednesday, and fire was left beneath the boiler from which the flames are believed to have originated. About four o'clock Thursday morning, the entire mill was found to be a mass of flames, and as there was no way to fight the fire, it burned fiercely, spreading quickly to the lumber piles, devouring them in a short time.

Hon. Louis Piollet, owner of the property, has not yet decided whether he will rebuild the mill.

FIRE AT HORNBROOK.

Home of Mrs. Mary Douglass Destroyed Thursday Evening.

The home of Mrs. Mary Douglass at Hornbrook corners, was destroyed by fire about 9 oclock Thursday evening, the flames originating from a defective chimney.

Neighbors responded quickly to the call for help, but the flames gained so rapidly that all that could be done was to save some of the household goods. The chemical engine and a number of Ulster firemen hurried to the scene, but the house was a mass of ruins on their arrival.

Mrs. Douglass' loss is estimated at $500 with no insurance.

Widespread Grief.

The Scranton Tribune has the following to say concerning the death of Rev. Father Kelly, who for a time was curate of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, of Towanda: "Widespread is the regret expressed in this section at the sudden and wholly unexpected death of Rev. Joseph Kelly, late assistant pastor of Holy Rosary church, who died at his home in Minooka, Monday, after an illness of typhoid. Father Kelly was first taken ill Sunday morning, four weeks ago, while celebrating mass. He was so ill that he was unable to proceed and was substituted by Father Hopkins. His illness was considered trivial among his local friends and from the many favorable reports emanating from his bedside it was believed he would soon be well, consequently the news of his death was a great shock to his friends here. Father Whitty society and Marquette council, Young Men's Institute, of which organization he was spiritual adviser, have held special meetings to make arrangements for attendance at his funeral Thursday morning."

Man Is Williams.

J. C. McArthur, the automobile expert, who died at Atlanta, Ga., on Aug. 16, from injuries received while at work, has been identified as the missing Frank Williams of Scranton, who disappeared under mysterious circumstances last Fall. At the time of his death it was suspected that he was Williams and identification was made complete by means of a photograph which was sent from Scranton to Atlanta and shown to the men who worked with Williams, all of whom declared it to be a perfect likeness of the dead man.

Post Card Ruling.

Persons desiring to send ornamented post cards, have, during the past few weeks been mailing the cards, enclosing them in transparent envelopes and affixing no stamp, other than the one-cent stamp on the enclosed card. Inquiry at the postoffice department at Washington, has brought out the ruling, that all post cards, enclosed in sealed envelopes are considered as first-class matter, and therefore be paid for at first-class rates.

B. A. YENSER KILLED

Went Down on the Quebec Bridge to Death in the River.

LESLIE BURNETT MISSING.

Towanda Young Man Was Employed on the Ill-Fated Structure—General Foreman Yenser Had Charge of Constructing New Lehigh Bridge.

Several of the workmen who lost their lives Thursday afternoon by the collapse of the new steel bridge which was being built across the St. Lawrence river at Quebec, Canada, were well known in Towanda, they having been employed by the Phoenix Bridge company on the construction of the new Lehigh railroad bridge. Ben. A. Yenser, general foreman for the Phoenix company, who had charge of the work on the Lehigh bridge here, was one of the men who went down on the structure to his death. He was well and favorably known in Towanda, having made many friends while here. He and Mrs. Yenser boarded at the Ward house while in Towanda.

A number of the other victims of the terrible accident, were also employed on the construction work of the new Lehigh bridge, but owing to the fact that but few bodies had been recovered from the St. Lawrence river last night, their names could not be learned.

BEARS ARE NUMEROUS.

Number of Shaggy Beasts Seen Along Bowman's Creek Branch.

Many bears have been seen in the North Mountain region during the past month. Passengers on the Lehigh Valley railroad's Bowman creek branch trains have had the pleasure of gazing at several of the animals in the past three days. In each instance the bears were seen in the neighborhood North of Stull, and only the excessive tooting of the engine whistle frightened them from the railroad tracks.

Tuesday forenoon, while the passenger train was bound for Wilkes-Barre, Engineer Ed Miller of Towanda, noticed a monster black bear on the track ahead of the engine. The engineer blew the whistle and rang the bell at a furious rate and the crew and passengers realized that something was on the track. On looking out of the windows they beheld the monster bruin amble slowly from the track, clamber up the steep bank and make his way into a near-by apple orchard. Engineer Miller claims that the bear was the largest he ever saw and must weigh about 500 pounds. Conductor James Miller, also of Towanda, slightly differs from his engineer and claims that the bear was as large as a cow, while Baggagemaster Stout of Wilkes-Barre, contends that bruin was fully as large as the monster horse on exhibition at the Wilkes-Barre fair.

Broke Her Wrist.

In attempting to alight from her carriage while visiting at "The Rocks," Mrs. Eliza Vaughan of Wyalusing, fell and broke her arm at the wrist on Sunday. After enjoying the view at that place from her carriage for some time Mrs. Vaughan concluded to get out for a closer view, but just as she was part way out of the vehicle the horses started up, throwing her whole weight upon her wrist, causing a bad fracture of the bones in that member. She was taken to her home and a physician summoned who reduced the fracture, and Mrs. Vaughn, whose age is past 80 years, is resting as comfortably as could be expected.—Wyalusing Rocket.

Strangely Afflicted.

A strange affliction has attacked Alfred Pierce, the well known Hill street contractor. On Saturday, Mr. Pierce, while directing the work of his men on a contract in the Barnum mine at Pittston, fell from a plank, a few feet from the ground, and sprained his ankle. In a few minutes he lapsed into unconsciousness and has been in that condition since, despite the efforts of his attending physicians to revive him. Mr. Pierce was removed to his home shortly after the accident. His physicians are at a loss to properly diagnose his case.—Scranton Tribune.

Busy Establishment.

The Drury Manufacturing company at North Towanda, is one of the busiest establishments in this section. The company has orders for the complete furnishings for three postoffices, and the plant is being operated 11 hours a day, in order to keep up with the work.

Conductor Injured.

W. H. Moyer, a Lehigh Valley conductor on the Bernice branch, suffered the fracture of a collar bone while at work in the Bernice yard, Friday afternoon. He was riding on the side of a car and struck a switch board.

WOOLENS RECOVERED

Sayre Robbery Easily Untangled by the Police.

SOLOMON BROTHERS ARRESTED

Railroad Village Gives Birth to the Queerest Piece of Shicanery Ever—Peters, the Tailor, is Happy and Brother Dealers are in Bother.

Sayre, the railroad village up the way, has given birth to the queerest piece of shicanery ever in this county Some time Sunday night or Monday morning, Edward Peters' tailoring establishment on Lockhart street was burglarized and $1200 worth of choice fall suitings were stolen, and as a result all Sayre became excited, the boldness of the burglars being something out of the ordinary. The woolen goods were recovered Tuesday afternoon, and Solomon Brothers, who are also engaged in the custom tailoring business in Sayre, have been arrested charged with robbing their brother merchant, Mr. Peters.

Tuesday morning the police commenced making a search of all places owned by men of shady reputations. Some time ago one of the firm of Solomos Bros. was implicated in stealing a watch but the case against him was dropped. This caused the police to search the firm's barn along with other places. A. C. McGovern of Athens, a constable and Julius Vogel, a policeman, armed with a search warrant entered the Solomon barn and on top of a haymow they found two large bundles containing the stolen woolens.

Then leaving Mr. Vogel on guard Mr. McGovern ascertained that one of the firm was working as a drayman, moving household goods for a family living in the Northern part of Athens. Hastening to that place Mr. McGovern arrested him and still driving the team, the member of the firm was accompanied to the center of the town. As soon as Chief Walsh learned that the goods had been found in Solomon Bros.' barn he placed the other member of the firm under arrest.

It has been a long time since Sayre was more thoroughly aroused than at present. Both the Solomons and Peters are well known, having been engaged in business in Sayre for a long time. One of the Solomon brothers recently made application in court for naturalization papers. Evidently they are in serious bother.

Broke Up Camp.

The Towanda boys in camp at Blackman's Ferry had an exciting time during the storm which swept down the river Monday afternoon. The campers were preparing to pull stakes and go home, when the hurricane struck the outfit plumb in the middle, lifting a large sheet of waterproof cloth and carrying it out in the middle of the river. A round top tent in the commissary division was lifted by the elements and shot up in the air over 100 feet, coming down in a tree top. The boys were soaked to the skin by the downpour of rain, and reached home well satisfied and able to prove that they had been in camp.

Two pieces of property were disposed of by Sheriff Griffin at the first week's sale in the court house. No. 1, a piece of land in Tuscarora township, seized and taken into execution at the suit of E. Robinson vs. Guy May, was purchased by Mr. Robinson for $1. Lots Nos. 2 and 3, were adjourned until this week Friday, when the second week's sale will be held.

WIND AND LIGHTNING

Bradford County Visited by Terrific Storm.

THREE BARNS DESTROYED.

Large Barn on the Sherwood Farm at Hornbrook Struck By Lightning and Destroyed by the Fire Which Followed.

Bradford county, and especially the valley district along the Susquehanna was visited by a big wind and electric storm about 5 o'clock, Monday afternoon, much damage being done by the elements which raged fiercely for a short time.

The large and practically new barn on the Sherwood farm at Hornbrook, which is situated about half way between E. H. Brigham's and C. H. Norton's, was struck by lightning, and destroyed by the fire which followed. The building was well filled with hay and grain, besides containing a large number of farming utensils, all being consumed by the flames. The loss is quite heavy.

Telephone Communication Cut Off.

The high wind which accompanied the storm, played havoc with the telephone lines through the farming sections, and the Reporter-Journal could not get in communication with any of the correspondents in the country districts to learn the extent of the damage done to buildings and standing crops, but meagre reports would indicate that the storm was a great deal more severe than was supposed in Towanda. By way of Athens and North Rome it was learned that two barns at Saco were demolished by the wind which blew a gale in that section.

In Towanda, the storm did not appear to be of great proportions although along the river front, it was plainly noticeable that the wind was very threatening. Many thought that the roof, at least of the wagon bridge would be blown away, so terrific was the velocity of the wind which swept down the river.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

Car Leaps Embankment Near Elmira, Kills One and Injures Four.

A powerful touring car plunged over a 15-foot embankment at Pine City, six miles from Elmira, at 1:15 o'clock Sunday morning, killing H. B. Sears of Tioga, and injuring four others. John Henry is confined in the Arnot-Ogden hospital, Elmira, and is probably fatally injured. The others were bruised only slightly. The party was bound from Corning to Tioga, the home of Waldo Whitehead, who owned the car, and who was seated in the rear seat with John Henry of Canandaigua, and H. B. Sears. The chauffeur, A. F. Van Gorder, of Corning, and James Barrett, a guide, were seated in front.

Barrett had been taken into the car only a few moments before the accident as the party was unfamiliar with the road. At the point where the accident occurred the road turns abruptly to the left. As a result of a misunderstanding between the chauffeur and the guide the car continued straight ahead and plunged off the embankment turning completely over and pinning the occupants underneath.

A BRAVE GIRL.

Fought Her Way Through Burning House to Rescue Baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Almond Smith of Delmar, Tioga county, went to Wellsboro to do some shopping a few days ago, leaving their 11 years old daughter Edith at home to take care of her baby sister, less than a year old. During the absence of the parents the house caught fire. The baby was asleep upstairs and in order to rescue the little one Edith was compelled to fight her way through dense smoke to the second floor.

She succeeded in carrying the child to safety. When Mr. and Mrs. Smith heard that their house was on fire they hired an automobile and started for home, but before reaching there the auto broke down. A farmer took them the rest of the way. The house was destroyed, causing a loss of about $2,000.

SUIT FOR SLANDER.

Alleged Joke That May Have An Expensive Ending in Court

DAMAGES OF $5,000 CLAIMED.

M. Kaufman Was Robbed of Watch and Diamond and Objects to Having It Stated They Were Lost in a Game of Draw Poker.

David Rosenthal, one of the men engaged in selling off the stock of the Clark B. Porter pharmacy, was on Saturday arrested on a capias in trespass for slander issued at the instance of M Kaufman, the clothier William Maxwell, Esq., attorney. Rosenthal was taken into custody by Sheriff Griffin and was immediately released under a bond of $1,000 furnished to the sheriff The writ is returnable on the third Monday of September.

The case grew out of joking conversation following the robbery of the Kaufman residence on the night of Aug. 18, at which time Mr. Kaufman lost a gold watch and diamond stud. It is alleged that Rosenthal made light of the idea that Mr. Kaufman had been robbed and asserted at numerous times that instead that gentleman had indulged in the national game of draw poker and had put up his valuables as security for his losses to him.

What was at first taken as a "joke," it is asserted by Kaufman was repeated with variations until the matter ceased to be a joke and was taken by many people to be the truth, to the serious detriment of the peace of mind of that gentleman. To put a stop to the matter and secure redress for his loss of reputation Mr. Kaufman brings suit for slander, placing his damage at $5,000.

Mr. Rosenthal denies any intention on his part to do Mr. Kaufman an injury. The Kaufman house on Poplar street was entered on the night of Aug. 18, Mr. Kaufman's clothing being taken on to the front porch. His gold watch was taken and the diamond cut from his shirt front with a knife, which was found lying near the door. After a careful investigation the officers were satisfied that there had been a genuine robbery, although no tangible clues were obtained as to the identity of the guilty parties.

FARMER HANGS HIMSELF.

Susquehanna County Man Ends Life After Suffering From Sunstroke.

Alvah Borland, a well known farmer of Waywayanda, Susquehanna county, committed suicide Tuesday afternoon by hanging himself in the barn of his brother-in-law, John Austin. About the middle of the Summer he suffered a sunstroke while haying and had been acting strangely since.

When he was missed it was discovered that he had borrowed a rope from a neighbor. An investigation was made and his lifeless body was found hanging from a beam in the cow barn.

Two boys fishing in the Susquehanna river at Wilkes-Barre heard cries coming from a small boat drifting down the stream and on swimming to it found a child not more than six months old in it. It is believed some heartless mother abandoned the child.

Blackberry picking in the surrounding woods caused the death of Charles Goll, an eight-year-old boy living with his parents in Hazleton. While picking berries recently the boy became fast in a briar, which badly scratched one of his feet. Blood poisoning set in and despite the efforts of two physicians death ensued.

COMMON SENSE

Leads most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle wrappers and attest its correctness under oath, are daily growing in favor. The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formulæ, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs. Examine the formula on their bottle wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great, blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and hang-on-coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials. They are not given away to be experimented with but are sold by all dealers in medicines at reasonable prices.

GREENE CO.'S GIANT TEACHER.

Bloomsburg Man Finds $200 in the Wall of an Old House Which He Was Repairing—Couple Take Wedding Trip After 35 Years.

The people in and about Khedive, Green county, are so incensed against the reckless running of automobiles, that a few days ago a man shot at one that was speeding by and struck the auto near where one of the occupants was sitting. Others placed a log across the road at a short turn into which an auto ran and was upset.

The new capitol is now printed on letterheads of a number of the departments at Harrisburg. For years the state arms formed the heading, until Auditor General Snyder changed things by placing on his official paper the new building. This has been followed by other branches. The word "graft" is carefully excluded from the heading. The graft is understood, however.

The Williamsport hospital will fall heir to the farm of the late John T. Carothers of Lycoming county. It was left to his widow to pass to his brother, Newton Carothers, and at the death of the latter will go to the hospital. The Pennsylvaia railroad company has secured an option on a portion of the property at a figure that will net the hospital about $12,000 if the deal is carried through.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mullen of Woodland, Clearfield county, are home from their wedding trip, which had been deferred 35 years. Their journey was to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. They both declared they enjoyed the trip as much as if they had taken it after their wedding. Mr. Mullen is a farmer of the old school. The bride and bridegroom of 35 years are both in robust health and were heartily congratulated on their return by their neighbors.

Mike Slavonic, an Austrian who toiled and saved for years in this country until he had accumulated $200, decided to return to his native land. While waiting on the train at Harrisburg, two fellow countrymen invited him to take a drink with them. They had several drinks when he showed his money, he he was afterwards again treated and sometime later discovered that he had only one dollar bill wrapped around a roll of paper, so he was obliged to postpone his homegoing.

Greene county has produced a prodigy in Stanley Wright, its youngest school teacher, who for height and avoirdupois, it is believed, stands without a peer in the state. Young Wright is a product of Richhill township, and, though only 17 years of age, stands six feet seven inches in his hose, tips the beam at 256 pounds and is still growing. He wears a No. 18 shoe, which he has made to order. The young giant will teach in one of the schools of Richhill township, and the foolish Richhill school boy who undertakes to lick the teacher will need to be a David, and know how to throw stones.

Dr. Benjamin Holbrook of Coatesville, who was a practicing physician and also practiced burglary and theft at night time, ransacking many railroad stations and school houses, was convicted on several charges in the Chester county court on Tuesday and sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary.

A woman at Beaver Falls, it has just been discovered, has been going about regularly begging loaves of bread from residents on one side of a street, pleading that she had a sick husband and starving children at home. Then she packed the loaves nicely in a basket and passed along the other side and sold them at fancy prices saying she was obliged to bake to support a large family.

A woman died in Mercer county last week, who had considerable experience with the so-called "unlucky" number 13. She was born on September 13, 1825; married twice, each time on the 13th of the month; was one of 13 children and the 13th to die; had 13 children, 34 grandchildren and 24 great grandchildren—the difference between the last two numbers being 13—but one thing she ought to have done was to live three years longer, when the digits of her age number would have aded up thirteen. And, to go well with this story, her name was Delilah Syling, and there are 13letters in it.

Edward B. Connerty of Glen Summit, Luzerne county, was struck by a Lehigh Valley locomotive Thursday morning and was falling directly in front of the wheels when a projecting bolt at the cylinder head caught under his collar and held his head above the tracks. REMARKABLE OPERATION.

Williamsport Physician Saves Woman's Life With Surgeon's Knife.

A story comes from Cross Fork of a remarkable surgical operation which was performed by Dr. H. J. Donaldson of Williamsport. Mrs. Frank Benevoir, the wife of a prominent resident of that place, met with an accident which resulted in the rupture of an organ of her body, causing portions of the intestines to protrude from her abdomen. The physician of that place announced that the woman could not possibly live more than a few hours, but Mr. Benevoir telephoned to Williamsport for Dr. Donaldson.

In order to reach Cross Fork that day it was necessary for Dr. Donaldson to go to Renovo and drive to Cross Fork, arriving there shortly after midnight.

He at once went to work and at 1 o'clock operated upon the woman, removing 12 inches of her intestines, which had been exposed for over 12 hours and which were then paralyzed. This is said to be the most delicate operation ever performed in that section. The woman survived the effects of the operation and expects to be able to leave her bed in less than a week.

Dr. Donaldson said the operation was the most remarkable he had ever performed. He admitted that he had no idea of saving the woman's life when he first saw the case.

P. O. S. OF A. PARADE.

Twelve Thousand Men Walk to Music of the Bands in Philadelphia.

Stepping proudly to the blare of two score bands and the shrill rythm of a dozen fife and drum corps, about 12,000 men marched down Broad street, Phiadlelphia, in the annual parade of the state camp Patriotic Order Sons of America, on Thursday.

The parade was led by Commandery Division of 600 men in regulation fatigue uniform and was reviewed at the city hall by Governor Stuart and city officials. The paraders marched three miles on Broad street and it required nearly three hours for them to pass in review. Thousands of people lined the streets and looked at the marchers in whose ranks were many floats handsomely decorated.

Many of these floats were designed to represent incidents in the early history of America. Governor Stuart was the guest of the general committee of order at luncheon served at noon.

The parade was the climax of the convention and sixtieth anniversary and immediately at the conclusion visitors began leaving for their homes. Convention will meet next year in Hazleton, the question having been decided at business session held Thursday morning.

A "Fish" Dinner.

Chief of Police Cassada of Elmira, made his annual fishing trip down the river from Athens Thursday as the guest of Chief Mulligan of Athens. In honor of the event the latter arranged for a fish dinner at District Attorney Mills' cottage just below the Sheshequin narrows, to which 25 guests were invited. The dinner was conspicuous by the absence of fish, as they were'nt bitting well, but a bountiful array of every good thing the market affords, made the omission of the fish course a minor matter. Among the guests of honor was Chief Brooks of Waverly, and the presence of three minions of the law, as well as the district attorney, caused everyone to conduct himself with decorum as befitted the occasion, which was thoroughly enjoyed. The one fish caught during the day was taken home by Chief Cassada.—Athens News.

Ran Away to Be Vaccinated.

The Troy Gazette-Register says: "Boys who run away from school are common enough or used to be and it might be added, generally live to regret it, but boys who run away to be vaccinated so they can attend school are rare indeed. Still this very thing happened not long since in a neighboring school. Their parents were indifferent or defied the state law requiring vaccination. These boys, wise beyond their years, slipped away to a physician, submitted to the simple operation and are now on their way to useful, enlightened citizenship as regular attendants of the nearest school."

NIGHT RATE ABOLISHED.

No More Cheap Talk Over the Bell Telephone Lines.

With the price of nearly everything advancing, comes the announcement that night rates on the long distance telephone controlled by the New York and Pennsylvania Telephone and Telegraph company are to be abolished after Saturday night. This mens that a message at night will cost just as much as one in the daytime, while heretofore the night rate has been about one-half the day rate. The new order, it is understood, applies wherever the company's lines extend, which practically means all over the country.

An official announcement sent out from the offices of the company states that owing "to the congestion of traffic which occurs when night rates take effect, it has been decided to cancel the night rates and charge day rates on all messages" passing over the lines of the company. But inasmuch as the "congestion" is not noticeable at many of the offices of the company it is to be presumed that the new order is for the purpose of increasing the income rather than to decrease the number of night messages.

The official bulletin issued states that the result of this order will be a more even distribution of telephone load during the 24 hours, relieving the present congestion between 6 and 8 p. m." The new order goes into effect tomorrow, Sunday morning at 6 o'clock.

BABY KILLED BY LIVE WIRE.

Mother and Son Also Badly Burned, But Will Recover.

A fatal accident occurred in upper Exeter borough on Sunday morning about 11 o'clock, when Aggie Pretharavidge, aged two years, touched a live electric wire. The mother narrowly escaped the same fate, also another son, aged six years, both of whom are suffering from injuries received.

The family lives along the D., L. and W railroad, near the Wyoming Valley Lumber company's yards at the upper end of West Pittston. The boy was walking along when he saw the wire was down, and he caught hold of it. He received a severe shock and cried out with the pain. His hand was burned and also his feet, which came in contact with the wire. His cries attracted his mother's attention, who had a little two years old baby in her arms, and she ran to help her boy, but the shock she got when she took hold of her son was so severe that it affected the child in her arms, and it died a short time afterwards. Meantime the boy nor his mother could not let go the wire until Mihcael Lasko, who is watchman around the yards, came to their assistance and cut it, probably saving their lives.

Mrs. Pretharavidge's right hand was badly burned and she suffers from the shock. The boy's left hand and ear were painfully burned, also his feet.

PAID FOR DIVORCE.

Running Off With Scranton Man's Wife, Eloper Settles for Cash.

Frank Bensa of Scranton, Sunday called at police headquarters and stated that his wife had eloped with an Italian named Anthony Coccimiglio, and that they were living in that city.

City Detective Wood was sent out, and succeeded in finding the couple in a store on South Pennsylvania avenue, near South street. They were taken to the city hall, where Bensa demanded that Coccimiglio, in order to keep his wife, must also take charge of two children, and that he must also pay to the former the sum of $40 to be used in securing a divorce.

Coccimiglio at once accepted the bargain and he immediately sent for the two children, one 15 months old, at his wife's former home, and the other a child of five months, in the State hospital at Scranton. With the bargain struck all left the city hall perfectly satisfied.

NEW SCHOOL LAWS.

Those Passed During the Last Session of the Legislature.

THEY ARE OF MUCH INTEREST.

Not Only Directors and Teachers, But Parents and Pupils Should Be Familiar With the Law's Requirements —Some Amendments.

At the last session of the state legislature several laws were enacted affecting the school going population, which are of interest not only to directors and teachers but to parents and children as well, as all should know what are their ights and privileges and what is expected of them in order to secure the full benefits of the generous provisions made by the state for the education of the youth. Following are abstracts of three new laws:

Admission of Beginners.

Act No. 246 provides that "it shall be lawful for school boards to confine the entrance of beginners into the public schools to certain periods of not less than one week each,, in the course of the school year, provided, however, that at least two such periods be fixed upon, and that beginners becoming six years of age in the interval between any two periods shall have permission to enter within the period immediately preceding such intervals. For the purpose of this act the word "beginner" shall mean any child of school age that cannot read and write."

The object in having all beginners start at fixed periods instead of dropping in at any time, is to start all together in classes which is an advantage to the teacher and a still greater advantage to the pupil. Parents should endeavor to gain all the benefits possible for their children by starting their beginners on the first day or at least the first week of the beginning period.

Attendance Outside of District.

Act No. 21 provides that all children who reside one and one-half miles or more, by public road, from the nearest school in the district where they reside, may attend any school more convenient in any other district, without the consent of the directors or controllers of the district where they reside or where they may attend; provided the consent of the directors or controllers of such district be first obtained; and the district where such children shall be liable to the district where they may attend for the cost of tuition; provided, the cost of tuition shall not exceed the tuition of children in the schools and grades in the district receiving such non-resident children.

Better Sanitation and Heating.

Act No. 240 provides for better sanitation of school rooms, relative to heat and ventilation and requires wherever a common stove is used for heating a school room that the stove shall be enclosed within a shield or jacket of galvanized iron or other suitable material of sufficient height to protect all pupils while seated at their desks, from direct rays of heat, and when windows are the only means for ventilation, they shall be so constructed as to admit of ready adjustment, both at the top and bottom, and some device must be provided to protect pupils from currents of cold air. A thermometer must also be placed in every school room, even where standard systems of heating and ventilation are in use.

Supplements and Amendments.

Act No. 163, is an amendment to a previous act, and makes better provision for the attendance of pupils in a district which has no High school, at a High school in an adjoining district.

No. 115 is a supplement to an act providing for the establishment of free public libraries in school districts, the supplement making provision for townships or boroughs adjoining a city, to join with the city in the establishment and maintenance of such libraries.

There have also been amendments to the compulsory education act and to the act exempting children between 14 and 16 years of age from attendance at school, under certain conditions.

Fair time is rapidly approaching, and it behooves every farmer and manufacturer in this section to do what he can to make it a success.

More money is needed for the Panama canal, and congress will be asked to appropriate $8,000,000 in the urgent deficiency bill. It comes high, but we will have it.

The sheriff of Indiana county, with the task of hanging four condemned murderers ahead, will follow the example set by Sheriff Job Griffin of Bradford county, and execute the men in private.

There are many reasons why you ask for advertised articles, but absolutely none why you should let a substituting dealer palm off something which he claims to be "just as good" or "better" or "the same thing" as the article you requested.

In mottoes and similar inscriptions, appropriateness is as important as sentiment. During Boston's recent "Old Home Week" a conspicious part of the decorations in one of the suburbs was "Welcome, displayed in large letters, over the door of the police station.

You are attracted by the advertisement in this paper; you read it and makes up your mind that the goods advertised are what you want. You enter a store to make your purchase. Be sure to get what you ask for, even if the dealer tries to sell you something just as good. Avoid substitutes.

Texas has 222 counties, with a population of 3,048,710, according to the census of 1900 Georgia, the second in order, so far as the number of counties is concerned, with 137, with a population of 2,216,331; Pennsylvania has 67 counties, with 6,302,115 inhabitants, exceeding both of above states, with their 329 counties, by 1,104,074 population.

The attempt to scare the commuters in some of the states that have reduced passenger rates into standing by the railroads for the old rates, is a dismal failure. If the low commutation rates did not pay the railroads they would have abolished or raised the price of commutation tickets long ago. If the railroads are wise they will not stir up no more antagonism than they now have to contend with.

While state legislatures this year have been racing with each other in passing railroad rate and anti-free pass laws, in the Georgia legislature, which adjourned a few days ago, the anti-pass law fell down, though the legislature classed itself as a "reform" body. The reason given by the reform solons is that Georgia is a state of magnificent railroad distances, and railroad fares are too high for the legislative salary.

New York has for years been one of the few large states in which persons could marry without first securing a license. The legislature has lately passed a law to go into effect on January 1st, making it a misdemeanor for any authorized person to solemnize a marriage unless the parties to it have obtained a license from the proper officers. As the license makes a secret marriage difficult, if not impossible, it is in the interest of public decency, and is therefore commendable.

Referring to Smith Brothers proposition to undersell mail order houses, the Dushore Review makes the following ten strike at an increasing evil: "A firm of furniture dealers in Towanda have taken the mail order bull by the horns, and invite people to bring their catalogues to them, indicate what articles they want, put down the cash, and they will have them shipped direct from the factory for the same or less money than it would cost to order them of some Chicago house. That's the way to do the trick. Give people what they want for less money than some one else, and you'll get the trade—provided you let them know you are in the business. It will be observed that the Towanda firm exacts cash with the order. That is the secret of most low prices. Cash with the order."

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

The expectations entertained by our friends the Democrats that they would be able to make a campaign for the election of a State Treasurer this year on the Capitol exposures are not so buoyant as they were. That issue cannot be made.

Any attempt to shield the Capitol looters might have made a different situation. But instead of any such effort the Capitol Commission went every length to secure all the facts and a complete exposure, and it has unflinchingly presented for proper punishment all who are involved by the evidence. This is recognized and acknowledged by the press of all parties in the state. There is no issue in this that can divide the two leading party candidates for State Treasurer. Both stand upon a platform denouncing the steal and demanding punishment of the thieves.

When the Republican Convention nominated John O. Sheatz it presented a candidate who can be honorably supported by every citizen of the Commonwealth calling himself a Republican, no matter what his factional preferences may have been in the past two or three years. When such candidates as Mr. Sheatz are nominated for public office there is no reason for opposition in the party. It brings about a condition which the better sentiment of the party has sought, and it is accepted as a recognition of that sentiment. It gives the party an independent, self-owned, unbossed candidate.

The high character of the Republican nominee, his unimpeachable personal and public record, are conceeded by the opposition newspapers. Their whole campaign effort so far has been to make it appear that, having been nominated by a regular convention, he will be Machine controlled. This would be good enough reasoning if applied to one who had been subservient to Machine control at any time—to a Harris, a Mathues or a Plummer, for instance. But Mr. Sheatz has been independent of such influence in all his public life and he owes his nomination to that independence and not to Machine favor.

Against such a candidate it is not possible to make a campaign such as the opposition are undertaking. We shall soon be well into the work of an active canvass, and the people of the State, who already know about the record of public service made by Mr. Sheatz, will have an opportunity to meet him face to face and see what manner of man he is. Granting all that is claimed for the Democratic nominee, he has no qualities that would make him a better or more faithful guardian of the peoples' interests in the Treasury than John O. Sheatz will be.

It should be and is gratifying to all sincere Republicans that their party has a candidate of such high character and trustworthiness as to have and deserve their confidence.—Philadelphia Press.

FARMERS—LOOK TO YOUR HORSE

The American Agriculturist states that "during the past eighteen months horse values have moved steadily up. Farm chunks and heavy range drafters have been especially sought after and prices for these have accompanied the ratio of their scarcity. Well-balanced, stylish and sound youngsters raised on the farm have been bringing on the Chicago market $250 and upward. These prices have been brought about because there were but few drafters to be had at any price. The rangebred horses sold on the Chicago market and taken out to the country to be fed have brought a profit to their feeders of at least $60 a head for the extra care. Eastern dealers desire them to feed before selling on the Philadelphia and New York markets. Light horses for carriage and road purposes are bringing from $350 to $725 apiece. This kind is very scare. As one studies the Chicago market he is impressed with the value of pure blood on the range. The use of pure-bred Percherons and Shires has been notably profitable in giving good action and stamina to the horses we now find in the market. As a whole the tone of the trade is encouragingly broader and it is well for farmers to take notice of these conditions in planning their Winter feeding operations."

So it seems that with all the increased use of automobile and trolley lines the supply of horseflesh does not satisfy demand and that prices are advancing in consequence. Our own county is a sort of center for the horse trade. But we bring the animals here to fatten and acclimate them, to be sold in the big markets, and do not try to raise them ourselves as we should.

Good roadsters will always be in demand no difference how common become other means of locomotion. The dray horse also will long continue in evidence even if motor engines come into use for a large portion of freight traffic on our streets and highways. It should ever be remembered that the horse is an established, permanent fact, while the mechanical motor is partly a fad, partly an experiment yet and so costly as not likely to soon take the place of light wagon or cart and wagon of the fathers.

In view of all this, the farmer should not get it into his head the day of the horse has passed. On the contrary, the high prices for horseflesh show he has just arrived, and the farmer is the wise man who tills his fields with mare and has a colt or two every Spring in the stable.

Passengers on the Pacific mail steamer Korea, from San Francisco to Honolulu, saw English sparrows 250 miles at sea. Now we may as well give up in despair. The sparrow has come to stay, whether he gets anything to eat or not or a place to roost.

NEED OF SCHOOL FOR PARENTS.

To the normal infant of the human species, says the Chicago News, it is commonly a source of astonishment that the world into which he has been put without his consent, is not his to command. His nearest relatives are as a rule, his devoted slaves. He has never intentionally done anything for them, except rob them of quiet thoughts by day and of slumber by night. Yet they scuttle about endlessly to amuse him and gratify his wishes. The arrangement, so far as it goes, is good enough from his point of view, but its limitations are grotesquely apparent. His retinue, as it turns out, is composed of servitors of very ordinary powers.

Ambition bids him get as much authority as possible, enlarging to that end the circle of persons who accept and execute his orders. Meanwhile it is good to be amused. If one has enough money one may be both idle and important; hence it seems to him that money is the secret of happiness. Here is a deduction which protrudes from the surface of things if one be a sufficiently superficial reasoner. So, the lesson of life having been learned upside down by the growing youth, ambition is ready to do its worst in his case, as in many others.

The succeeding years which he devotes to making money and paying it out for pleasures more or less dubious are of no special interest. If he never gets beyond this stage he has lived in vain. To the end of the chapter he is of no importance to anybody except his heirs and the other parasites that expect to prey upon him, living or dead.

One of the great needs of the age is a proper school for parents. Even those who have learned the lesson that life is service are prone to apply it in the wrong way. The child of their own is the obvious vessel to receive their devotion and he accordingly receives it. But they do not look beyond him—do not look even so far as ture. We are now in the twelfth Christian century of the globe and there is still a vast amount of pauperism and crime in the midst of civilization. We believe that the world is constantly getting better; of course, but there is not the improvement philanthropists and patriots would like to see.

It certainly would do no harm if the rich men who are so numerous in our country would drop colleges and the universities for a little time and join forces for the purpose of producing a better civilization. It would be a task of such colossal proportions as to demand their collective agency. We have some tremendously wealthy men here, but the money of no one man would prove sufficient to set in proper motion the machinery intended to diminish the volume of pauperism and crime, if not to cure them utterly. The task ought to appeal to the hearts and the consciences of those who have the time and the money to constitute a great humane agency for the betterment of the neglected little ones.

VARIED TEMPERANCE LESSONS.

Roundly is to be condemned the lesson intemperance taught six drunken men of Bayard, Ia., by a gang of women whie-caps, who tarred and feathered them. Even the fact that all drunkards of the town had been given due notice that such would be their fate does not justify the conduct of these women who, in the name of law and order, themselves perpetrate a serious offense against the law. They may have had serious provocation, for we admit that a drunken man often tries the patience of angels, but having put themselves forward as administrators of things pertaining to the law they cannot expect either sympathy or triumph by themselves becoming violators.

A more unwholesome and far-reaching lesson in sobriety is that administered in our own state by a leading railway superintendent at Bridgeport, who a few days ago manifested a rigid enforcement of the company's anti-drinking order to trainmen. He indefinitely suspended a number of brakemen, conductors, firemen and engineers for indulging in intoxicants while on duty or in going to or from their work. Some of these employes were found to be keeping running accounts in a number of bar-rooms and settling up when pay day came around. In connection with the suspension it is reported that the railway officials will call to account landords who are permitting credit accounts, it is asserted, in substantiation of the claim that such employes are persons of known intemperate habits and that a sale of liquor to them is a known violation of the law. This kind of a temperance lesson ought not only be effective to the men who are penalized but ought also to be a sufficient warning to landlords who too laxly observe the law regulating the sale of intoxicants.

ENCOURAGING CUPID.

The county commissioners of Luzerne county seem to have determined that the first legal steps towards matrimony shall be made attractive and charming to those venturing upon that course as the Pittsburg Gazette says: "That was a clever idea of the county commissioners, when they decided to enlarge the marriage license bureau office in the new court house and to spend more money in decorating that room than any other room of equal size in the temple of justice. We presume it is their belief that if they make the surroundings in the marriage license bureau attractive, it will be an inducement to prospective brides and grooms to secure their marriage licenses there, instead of flocking to neighboring counties and to sister states, where special inducements have been offered in the past. We shall expect a decided impetus in Cupid's business in Luzerne as soon as the new marriage license bureau is put into service."

"You often read of people dying from cramps while in swimming," says James T. Rose of Martin, Tenn. "People don't die from cramps while in bathing. The water gets in the ears, floods the ear drum and causes the nerves leading to the brain to become paralyzed. This naturally forces other vital nerves to cease performing their duty, and the result is death. If people who go in swimming would put cotton in their ears the number of deaths from 'cramps' would be smaller."

BEGINNING AT THE BOTTOM.

The Stellar Ray, a monthly published in Detroit and edited by Henry Clay Hodges, expresses the hope that some of the multi-millionaires for the establishment of libraries and the enlargement of the work of the colleges and universities will presently open their eyes to the real need of the times and bestow some of their money upon the important work of child training. It says that this country spends every year six billions of dollars upon crime and pauperism. It strongly urges the adoption of a new policy, one which will produce results.

The Stellar Ray is well within the bounds of truth and reason when it says that it is the duty of society to protect itself against ignorance and crime, but the remedial influence should be applied at a time when the mind is most receptive. A child's early environments we are told, are what dominates its whole life. The old adage, "As the twig is bent the tree inclines," is illustrated by the undeniable facts that our prison houses, insane asylums and poor houses are the result of neglected opportunities for the young. "Experience teaches that it is easier to put out a fire at its inception rather than after the whole structure is involved. It is more simple to control a stream at its fount than after it has gained momentum by auxiliary feeders on its course to the sea."

There is nothing new or infamiliar to the readers of The Review in the foregoing sentiments. For more than a quarter of a century this paper has set forth similar views from time to time. True, it has not asked the rich men of the country to provide for the care and culture of neglected childhood, but it has repeatedly urged the state to arouse to its duty and take a more active part in the early training of those who are so soon to be the heads of families and whose environment is of the most distressing nature. We are now in the twelfth Christian century of the globe and there is still a vast amount of pauperism and crime in the midst of civilization. We believe that the world is constantly getting better; of course, but there is not the improvement philanthropists and patriots would like to see.

It certainly would do no harm if the rich men who are so numerous in our country would drop colleges and the universities for a little time and join forces for the purpose of producing a better civilization. It would be a task of such colossal proportions as to demand their collective agency. We have some tremendously wealthy men here, but the money of no one man would prove sufficient to set in proper motion the machinery intended to diminish the volume of pauperism and crime, if not to cure them utterly. The task ought to appeal to the hearts and the consciences of those who have the time and the money to constitute a great humane agency for the betterment of the neglected little ones.

MORE ENDURING THAN BRONZE.

David C. Beaman of Denver, in his brief for the state of Colorado in the suit between that state and Kansas over the use of waters of the Arkansas river, pays a glowing tribute to the beneficence of irrigation, and ends with the following majestic passage, quoted from some unknown author:

"Although the tomb of Moses is unknown the traveler of today slakes his thirst at the well of Jacob. The gorgeous palaces of the wisest and wealthiest of monarchs, with their cedar and gold and ivory, and even the great temple of Jerusalem, hallowed by the invisible glory of the Deity Himself, are gone; but Solomon's reservoirs are as perfect as ever. Of the magnificent and costly architecture of the Holy City, not one stone is left upon another, but the pool of Bethesda commands the pilgrim's reverence at the present day. The columns of Persepolis are moldering into dust, but its cistern and aqueduct remains to challenge our admiration. The golden house of Nero is a mass of ruins, but the Aqua Claudia still pours into the city of Rome its limpid stream. The Temple of the Sun, at Tadmor in the wilderness, has fallen, but its fountain sparkles in the rays of the morning as when many thousands of worshippers thronged the lofty colonnades. And if any work of this generation shall rise over the deep ocean of time, we may well believe that it will be neither a palace nor a temple, but some vast aqueduct or reservoir; and if any name shall hereafter flash brightly through the mist of antiquity, it will probably be that of the man who in his day sought the happiness of his fellow men, and linked his memory to some such work of national utility or benevolence."

"Necessity is the mother of invention," says the adage. Whenever the monopolist tries to oppress his fellow man the latter puts on his thinking cap and devises something to give him comfort at a lower price. The latest thing in this line we read of is that a Western genius announces that he has discovered in the waste product of a paper mill a preparation that will preserve ice cream indefinitely. He says he can make his compound at a cost of 47 cents per 1,000 gallons and that a chunk of ice coated with this mixture will last all Summer. If this discovery turns oue better than the Altoona delusion of making fire forever out of ashes the world will put on a broad, cool smile and the ice trust will weep among the willows When the poorest family can keep a refrigerator all year for a few cents there will be universal peace in all industrial centers.

BEER AND CIGARS BOTH ILLEGAL

Candidates Cannot Treat While Seeking Votes, Says Erie County Court.

Candidates for office who go out treating voters to cigars and beer are given something to think about in an opinion Judge Walling of Erie, has just rendered. The opinion is an interpretation of the corrupt practices act.

The case was made against Mayor Liebel of Erie. A number of leading citizens charged that he procured his election illegally, and the question of campaign expenditures was raised. In addition to declaring that giving voters cigars and drinks is unlawful, Judge Walling found that the law had not been complied with in the statement of expenditures, as some expenditures had not been included, and there was a bunching of names of persons to whom amounts were paid for alleged services in a way that the act does not permit.

The judge also declared illegal the swearing in of personal workers as deputy sheriffs, who were paid as such officials, though they did nothing but work for votes for the candidate. The opinion is quite sweeping, and the whole effect of it is to declare the election of Mayor Liebel to be illegal. The next step will be an application to the attorney general to have him ousted from office, which he is no doubt holding illegally if he has violated the corrupt practices act, as alleged.

The opinion is the first given under the new law, and is of wide interest, as there are several cases of somewhat similar character pending in different parts of the state.—Philadelphia Press.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED.

Verdict in the Ackley Suit Against Lehigh Must Stand.

In the case of William Ackley vs. the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, Judge Fanning has discharged the rule for a new trial and rule for judgment non obstante veredicto, and directed judgment to be entered upon the verdict for $2,000 in favor of plaintiff, Ackley.

This was one of the damage suits against the Lehigh growing out of the accident at Washington street, when a freight car was bumped into a car from which several men were unloading a huge granite monument. Ackley and George Lafey, two of the men injured at that time, have secured verdicts.

Back From Fishing Trip.

Conrath of Watsontown, have returned from a brief fishing trip down the Susquehanna. The party captured a total of 44 nice game fish and one large eel, Mr. Rooker hooking the long limber monster on a clipper. The largest fish snailed from the limpid waters, was the one captured by H. C. Porter. Strangely enough Mr. Porter caught the prize beauty on a sweet pickle seed, left from lunch.

A Close Shave.

A delivery wagon of the Dye & Bresee Hardware company was utterly demolished by a freight train at the foot of Pine street Saturday afternoon, and H. Kent Bresee and Harry Cooper, who were in the wagon, escaped injury and possible death by jumping. The men started to cross the tracks at the foot of Pine street and did not see a string of freight cars backing down the track until it was upon them. Both jumped and shouted to the horse. The animal jumped far enough forward to clear and the force of the blow smashed the wagon.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY SEAT.

LUNATIC CAUSED EXCITEMENT.

Prof Fred Gibbs, Talented Violinist Becomes Insane.

Prof. Fred Gibbs of Ridgebury township, who a number of years ago resided in Towanda, following the vocation of instructor in violin music, and who recently became a raving maniac, created much excitement on Main street Wednesday morning. He was brought from Ridgebury on the morning train, and after arriving in the county seat, defied his attendants, and armed with a heavy cane, made people tremble and things hum for a short time, until overpowered by Chief of Police Miller.

Gibbs, the unfortunate, is a young man, of fine physique, and refined appearance, and at one time was considered one of the most talented violinists in this section. He was a master musician and with his favorite instrument was a wonder. He recently raturned from the west and was staying in Ridgebury township, his native heath, when his mind became unbalanced. It was decided to take him to the Danville asylum and Wednesday morning, with two men he was started for Towanda. The trip was made by the way of Elmira, and there was excitement all along the way.

At Sayre, Gibbs broke loose from his attendants, took after a man and cornering the frightened individual in a hallway, shook hands with him and then tapped him on the shoulder, saying "you're it for tag." Sayre people were frightened nearly out of their witts before Gibbs was gotten aboard the train for Towanda. At the upper station he entered a hotel bus in which there were three big athletic traveling men, and he scared them nearly sick with his big cane, and wild talk. In Towanda, he started the ball rolling in a hotel by wanting to whip the landlord. A few minutes later Gibbs met George Vogt, Sr., in front of the court house, grabbed the astonished gentleman by the hand, shook it warmly then whirled him around, launching a fierce kick at his rear extension. Mr. Vogt made his escape, after which Gibbs walked out in the middle of Park street and addressed a large crowd which had assembled in front of the Ward house. Just as he was warming up to his subject, and was doing a baton stunt with his big cane, Chief Miller having been phoned for, hurried up Park street from the council rooms, and coming up behind Gibbs, threw his arms around him, causing the cane to drop to the ground, and the unfortunate young man was helpless in the iron grip of the officer. He was taken to the county jail where doctors made an examination and pronounced him insane.

Taken to Danville.

John Allen Gets Three Years.

John Allen, the young man who on May 4, assaulted and robbed a man named Fleschutt, near the Barclay depot, was convicted of both robbery and assault and battery with intent to rob. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and undergo punishment in the Eastern penitentiary for a period of three years. Allen has every symptom of being an all around bad actor. After his arrest last May, he was released on bail and returned to Powell where he had been working. On the night of July 19 he assaulted Eugene Arnold, a Powell citizen, who on Tuesday swore out a warrant before 'Squire Orcutt for his arrest. While Allen was waiting in the court room for his sentence Chief Miller served the warrant, took him to 'Squire Orcutt's emporium of justice where he waived a hearing and was held to court. It will be three long weary years before he comes back to stand trial on the charge.

Mary Jones Convicted.

Mrs. Mary Jones Tallada was found guilty of conducting a disorderly house. Mary, it will be remembered, lived on Lombard street, and one Sunday evening, a few months ago, some Italians mixed up in an altercation, Mike Comparto secured an ax, chopped down the door to the Talada home, and created all kinds of excitement after which he took to the woods. Mrs. Jones, James Buckafor and another Italian were arrested, the two sons of Italy being discharged, and Mary held to court. Her conviction is sort of a sequel to the fuss.

Comparto Gets His.

Mike Comparto, the Italian, who raised a ruction at Mary Jones Tallada's home, plead guilty to the charge of malicious mischief, and was immediately sentenced by Judge Fanning to pay a fine of $100 and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for six months. Mrs. Jones, the woman in the case, who on Monday was convicted of keeping a disorderly house was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and spend 40 days in the county jail.

Comparto was arrested in Elmira some time ago and brought back to Towanda on requisition papers from Governor Stuart to Governor Hughes. He has already been partly punished for his doings, having been nearly frightened to death by fellow prisoners in the county jail, who worked a Johnson ghost job off on him one night, causing serious illness.

Tom Tumus Goes to Pen.

Tom Tumus, the Italian who has been in jail since the night of July 5, charged with assault, with intent to kill, and aggravated assault and battery, having it is alleged attacked and stabbed Anson Walker, a young American, at Mosheryille in Wells township on the morning of July 4, was found guilty by the jury. Wednesday morning he was sentenced to pay costes, a fine of $500 and undergo imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary for four years.

Other Cases.

Frank Fraley plead guilty to the charge of open lewdness, and was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution or give a satisfactory bond to the sheriff for the payment of the same within 30 days. The case against Charles Shulman, charging desertion and assault and battery, were nolle pros, the prosecutor failing to appear. C. W. Coburn was found not guilty of the charge of larceny from the person.

Thomas Mahaffey was convicted of larceny from the person and acquitted on the charge of larceny by bailee. Mahaffey is the man who was arrested in the Washington street station a few weeks ago, on complaint of a lumberman from Laquin who claimed to have been robbed of a sum of money.

F. W. Campbell plead guilty to the charge of asault and battery, and Judge Fanning immediately fined him $5 and sentenced him to pay the costs of prosecution.

KILLED IN THE WOODS.

Susquehanna County Man, Fatally Injured in Felling a Tree.

While felling trees at his farm about one mile from Brooklyn Center, in Susquehanna county, on Wednesday morning, Freeman Bennett was struck by part of one of them and so badly injured that he died at 2 o'clock the same day.

A tree had been cut off at the ground but in falling split apart, the two parts taking entirely different directions, one striking Mr. Bennett in the side and badly crushing him.

He was immediately removed to his home, and Drs. Ainey of Brooklyn, and Taylor of Hopbottom, called, but nothing could be done for him, he died before either of the physicians reached him.

Mr. Bennet was a highly respected citizen, and at the time of his death held offices of trust in his township. His sudden demise has cast a gloom over the community.

Perry Tupper Injured.

Mrs. William S. Mace, who is visiting in Towanda, has received information concerning an accident which befell her son, Perry Tupper, in the lumber regions of Montana. He is now in the hospital at Livingston, Mon., suffering with a fracture of the right leg and also a dislocation. Mr. Tupper, who is well known in Towanda, was a student in a Baltimore medical college, and having been in ill health, went to the mountain regions of Montana to recuperate. He was at a lumber camp near Livingston, and while assisting some men in handling logs, a large stick of timber rolled upon him, fracturing the small bone of the right leg and causing a dislocation of the knee joint. He was removed to the hospital at Livingston, where he is under treatment for the injuries.

Mysterious Shootfest.

Towanda has been the scene of another mysterious shootfest. Two pistol reports broke the stillness of Thursday midnight, in the vicinity of Washington street, in the First ward. Officer Eddy, who was on duty in that district, chased a man into a hotel and searched two or three rooms, but could not find him. A thorough investigation was made, and the police are of the opinion that it is another case of reckless shooting, which is of frequent occurrence in Towanda.

No Change in Independent Rates.

Manager Loomis of the local Independent Telephone exchange, states that the night rates for talking over the lines of the company which he represents, will remain in force. The Independent lines reach to all points, and the continuing of the low night rates after the abolishment of them by the Pennsylvania company, will have a tendency to increase business for the company which does business at the reduced rates between 6 p. m., and 6 a. m.

Holmes at Home.

Thomas Holmes of Athens, once upon a time engaged in the liquor selling business in that village, is in the county jail charged with several minor offenses, which developed from a drunk. It is alleged he threatened to kill a woman in Athens, and tried to kick down a door. He is held behind the bars, being unable to furnish $200 bail. Holmes has been at home in the county bastile before.

New Wrinkle in Houseboats.

Something new in the line of houseboats passed Towanda Sunday with a party of ladies and gentlemen on board. The boat was about 20 feet long, rather narrow as houseboats go, and was fitted with a paddle wheel operated by a gasoline engine and with a sail hoisted in the bow. Under a favoring breeze and the push of the gasoline good progress was being made.

BRADFORD COUNTY W. C. T. U.

Twenty-Second Annual Convention Will Be Held in Athens Next Week.

Twenty-one years ago the coming October, in the Universalist church of Troy, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Bradford county, was organized. Mrs. N. L. Bird of East Smithfield, was appointed county president by the state officers, and given, according to the constitution, power to call the women together to perfect an organization. This was done at that time, and every year since these faithful women have been coming together to plan to pray, to arouse public sentiment and educate the masses, and then go home to labor on with a faith that could not be daunted, though the way was often dark.

For 16 years Mrs. Bird planned, toiled and led these women to whom the movement was new and the women timid and fearful. We yet delight to honor her and all will be glad to know that she expects to attend the 22nd annual convention that has been officially called for Sept. 12, and 13, to be held in the Methodist church, Athens.

Extra efforts have been made to make the coming convention in Athens one of the best that has ever been held. The older members, those that helped in the organization of the county, are especially urged to be present. If they have not been in touch with the work in later years they will be welcomed for the sake of the past.

Miss Rhena Mosher, one of the National workers, both lecturer and organizer, will give the principal address. She comes highly recommended, and is a pleasing, eloquent speaker, a consecrated young woman and a special college lecturer. The day sessions will be filled with good things, and an abundance of home talent. The sessions should be of special interest to all interested in religious and reform work, as the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is interested in every reform that centers in the home. Friday evening thre will be a gold medal contest. Seven young women, all possessing a silver medal, will compete for a gold medal. Medal contests are getting to be a regular feature of the county conventions. This will be the fifth one held, four gold and one grand gold during the last six years.

Ministers, Christian workers and friends of the cause of right living, and right thinking, are urged to attend the sessions and give their influence to this great cause for "God and Home and Native Land." Sylvania B. Norrish, County President W. C. T. U.

I. O. O. F. Lodge Instituted.

A lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was instituted at Wysox yesterday, with a large list of charter members. The meeting was held in the Grange hall, and the lodge was instituted by James S. Montgomery of Philadelphia, grand warden, assisted by M. E. Chubbuck and other past grands of the Towanda lodge. The Ladies' Aid of Wysox, catered to a banquet held at the Decker hotel in the evening.

Labor Day in Towanda.

Towanda was a very quiet place Monday, considering the fact that it was labor day, and in many towns and cities big celebrations were being held. In the county seat, business in general continued as usual, the banks, postoffice, barbers and one or two industries being the only concerns to observe the day. A dance was held in Cornell hall, Foster block during the afternon and evening, and that was the only thing doing in the amusement line.

ACTION IN EQUITY.

Judge Fanning Has Motion to Dismiss Under Consideration.

Judge A. C. Fanning has in consideration a motion to dismiss the bill in equity obtained by the administrators of the estate of the late John H. Mills of Sayre, against N. C. Harris of Athens.

The attorneys for the defendant claim that the bill was improperly brought, that it should have been brought in the names of the heirs, one of whom is Lewis H. Miller, instead of in the name of the administrator, Dr. L. B. Dennison.

Several years ago John H. Mills, who owned considerable property in Sayre, became involved financially. His property was sold at Sheriff's sale and at that time N. C. Harris bid it in and took possession. Later much of the property was sold by Mr. Harris. It is now the contention of the Mills estate that Mr. Harris bid in the property with the understanding that he should be paid for this service but that the property should still belong to Mills and that Mills should receive the proceeds from the final sale of the property, less all necessary expenses. The Mills estate claims Mr. Harris has never made a proper accounting to the heirs of Mr. Mills who died in 1890 and the action has been brought in equity to compel the accounting.

ILLEGAL FISHING CHARGED.

Owners of Two Eel Racks Brought to Book for Violations

Joseph Vanderpool, William Ackley and Delbert Vanderpool were arrested on Saturday by Constable McCracken, charged by Fish Warden W. E. Shoemaker with a violation of the law regulating the operation of eel weirs. Justice Orcutt held them in bail of $50 each, which was furnished.

Joseph Vanderpool owns the weir at the foot of Chestnut street, and the other men the weir just below town. All three are charged with conducting their contrivances for the capture of the sinuous eel without having the number of the license under which they operate painted on both sides of the fish basket in letters a foot long as required by the act of assembly. It is simply a technical violation, but the penalty is a fine of $20. Hearings will be had on Friday.

Fergus Walker lost two yearlings out of a herd in a pasture lot containing quite a large wood lot, seven or eight weeks ago. He made diligent search throughout the surrounding country and even posted up written notices of his loss, but found no clue until one day last week a neighbor's dog came lugging home a foot and part of the leg of an animal that resembled a part of the missing animals. A more thorough search was made and both yearlings were found not over three rods in the edge of the woods from the pasture lot. Both were hampered by wooden "pokes," a contrivance for unrully animals. One was in place on a yearling and the other was stripped off which led to the conclusion that they were killed by lightning.

Not only in the eastern states has the fertility of the soil in many sections been depleted through a pernicious system of cropping, but cotton fields in many sections of the south are crying for relief and need nothing so much as a rational crop rotation of cowpeas and other legumes, which will give the land a rest and restore a part of its lost estate.

If the boy shows any mechanical turn whatever there is nothing that will please him more or be of more practical value to him, both in the present and future, than a box of carpenter tools. Exception may well be taken to the custom that prevails of charging the smallness or cussedness of individual folks to the church or lodge of which they may happen to be members. Of course discredit naturally comes to an organization if any of its members are unworthy, but it is well to remember that their lapse in morality is in spite of and not because of the fact that they belong to this or that church or lodge.

Clean cultivation of the orchard plot is not to be recommended where the orchard is located on a hillside or where, even if the slope is but slight, the soil is loose and washes and gullies easily. Where conditions are such that the formation of sod is necessary to hold the soil in place the good effects of cultivation may be in part secured through a mulching of the trees so that the diameter or extent of the mulch is equal to the spread of the limbs.

With the return of the fall season with its abundance of new grown corn it is again in order to speak a word of warning against the excessive feeding of it to young pigs. While the causes of hog cholera epidemics have not yet been fully determined, it seems to be generally agreed that they are greatly aggravated, if not actually induced, by an excessive feeding of this immature cereal. The hogs should be worked onto their new feed gradually.

Every person—farmer, business man or artisan—who can possibly do so should plan to take a few days off with his wife and children and attend the big state fairs which are a regular annual feature and attraction in many states. If the good wife cannot go, that bright boy and girl will have the time of their lives if they can have two or three days' sightseeing at one of these big fairs, where the best amusement attractions have been provided and where the finest stock of all kinds and the most approved and up to date machinery are on exhibit. And for father as well as son or daughter it will prove not only a recreation and treat from the standpoint of pleasure, but will also [illegible] of the best instruction touching a vast number of interesting things.

A BOGUS SUBSTITUTE.

A friend claims that he is able to slake his thirst or at least get along without drinking any water to speak of on hot days by keeping two or three kernels of coffee in his mouth. This might tend to bring saliva to the mouth and seem locally to satisfy the craving for something to drink, but it is well to remember that a parched mouth is not only evidence that the mouth, but the whole system as well, is in need of liquid refreshment, and the keeping of coffee in the mouth would hardly supply this. Where a worker is prone to drink more water than his system really needs a substitute of this kind might be a good thing, but as for taking the place of water for one who drinks only moderate quantities it would seem to have very little to back it from any sound physiological standpoint.

A SUGGESTION.

There are all too many rural communities of a thousand or two inhabitants with from five to eight different religious organizations where there is nothing so much needed as an application of the principle of consolidation which is just now such a potent influence in the hard fisted commercial world. Such union of religious forces would not only mean fewer underpaid and half starved preachers, but a better quality of preaching, better music and more money to devote to missionary, educational and other philanthropic purposes. At present there does not seem to be much tendency for this idea to take root in the religious field, but that it must sooner or later do so is coming to be quite generally recognized.

GROUNDING WIRE FENCES.

The grounding of the wire fences which inclose the pasture will often prevent the loss of stock by lightning which may strike in the vicinity. This is done by taking a short piece of wire, wrapping it about each of the two or three wires which constitute the fence, as the case may be, and sticking the lower end from a foot to eighteen inches into the ground directly beneath the fence. The current of electricity is thus diverted to the ground, which is a relatively good conductor, and does not follow the fence for a great distance to spend its force on the bodies of the farm animals which may happen to be seeking shelter near it or under the trees which may be close at hand.

THE LATE WEEDS.

The home garden needs and usually gets that degree of care which will bring the crops which are planted in it to maturity, and it also needs and very seldom gets that attention which will prevent the late maturing weeds which lift their heads after the other crops are laid by from going to seed. In view of the fact that the common weeds have a seed producing capacity ranging all the way from 10,000 to 200,000 each, this phase of the care of the garden ought not to be neglected. A keeping down of the late weeds not only makes the care of the garden more agreeable and satisfactory, but greatly lessens the amount of work which will be needed in a subsequent season.

Preparations should be made soon for setting out the hardy bulbs—the tulip, crocus, hyacinth and narcissus. They should be set out in the beds which they are to occupy at a depth of about four inches, more or less, depending somewhat upon the variety of bulb, during September and October—in fact, any time before the ground freezes up—and the bed should be covered with mulch or litter when the ground freezes for protection during the winter months.

In view of the reasonable price at which the best in agricultural and news papers can be secured it is often humiliating to think how many people get swindled and humbugged every year simply because of their unwillingness to pay the small price of keeping posted. And money is not only lost in the ways suggested, but hundreds of dollars are also lost every year by those who fail to keep in touch with the latest breeds and types of stock and their proper care and the most approved methods and conveniences for the doing of farm work.

It is safe to assume that just as soon as the little ones in the home arrive at an age when they are susceptible to contamination by the filthy conversation of their associates it is high time their moral instruction was begun in the home. They are wise parents who realize this thing and fortify their children against just such contamination. It is a commentary on our boasted American civilization that the most vital truths about their own being are learned most often by children from sources that are impure and degrading. This is both a privilege and responsibility that the parent should delegate to no other and especially not to immature and perverted children of the street.

A pleasant grange picnic is reported as having been enjoyed by New Albany grange two weeks since. The attendance was large and the entertainment fine.

Beech Flats has a feast of good things this week; all to take part in the efforts to have a profitable meeting.

The Pomona meeting held at LeRaysville on Aug. 23 and 24 calls to mind that the first grange in Bradford county was organized at that place in the Autumn of 1873, by State Deputy Frank Porter, of Lycoming county, and was named Bradford grange. After a few years it ceased to work. About one year ago another grange was organized in its place with a large membership. Its present condition promises good work for the order. In the Spring of 1874 the Bradford County Grange Council was organized at LeRaysville with Hon. Dummer Lilley of Columbia township, as master; Beecher Morgan of Wysox, as overseer, and A. T. Lilley of LeRoy, as lecturer. This was the first county grange in Bradford, but it soon gave place to Pomona grange, No. 23.

When at the Pomona meeting we looked in vain for some one who was in attendance at the organization of the Bradford County Council, one-third of a century ago, and do not call to mind only two—C. E. Gladding of Columbia grange, and Mrs. A. T. Lilley, of Open Hand grange,, who are now in active membership, but they were not present at this meeting. Surely time changes all things.

At one time between 1876 and 1882, there were 54 granges in the county, but after a time the number dropped to about 20 in active work, and now there are 32. The working condition, taken as a whole, was never better than it is today.

There are only a few townships in the county in which there is no grange, but it is believed that within a year there will be only one not having a grange. If proper effort is made during the next six months this work will be accomplished. The farmers of such townships agitate the question of organization and thus help to accomplish what ought to be secured, a grange in every township in Bradford county except one.

During the quarter ending June 30, 1907, 61 granges were added to the roll in the United States, nine of them in Pennsylvania.

Pomona District, No. 23, has added more than 200 members during the past three months, and now has a membership of 4,228. The total average attndance at the grange meetings during the past three months was 800, and the number of granges is 38, 32 being in Bradford county and six in Sullivan.

The discussions on farming, educational and legislative questions have been many in number and no doubt have been of much benefit to the members of the order. The social and literary entertainments have been enjoyd by many. In Western Bradford nearly all of the members take advantage of the low rates of grange fire insurance but the greatest benefit is gained by the educational features of grange work.

No doubt, that as usual, the Pomona secretary's report will be complete in the details of Pomona meeting, but we note that in grange legislative work that Hon. Louis Piollet, Hon. F. N. Moore, Hon. George Moscrip and Hon. Robert Edminston were present and willing to explain all legislative action to which their attention was called. Dr. Hunt, of the State Agricultural college, gave an excellent address that was appreciated by all.

The work of the fifth degree will never be really satisfactory so long as the Pomona grange has no home of its own in which to give the work careful attention. We long for the day when the conveniences are at hand to make the degree work more impressive.

We are living in the days of reunions, picnics, and feasts during "the year in and the year out," while on the part of some there is a hungering for the plain, solid things of life. Their work seems to be at the foundation on which others may build and they should have an opportunity to see that the foundation is in the best condition possible. We enjoy the adornments made to a solid foundation.

The seed bed, the seed, springtime, summertime and the harvest are essential in order to have the feast. The first essential in farm work is a good seed bed, without it there is no hope to secure profit. In order to have it care and labor are all important. The first essential in grange work is a thorough knowledge of the constitution and rules of the order; of the ritualistic work and of the unwritten work with its signification. When these are thoroughly mastered we are prepared to labor in the grange field and to enjoy the fruits of the harvest.

FIREMEN GET INCREASE.

Those on the Lehigh Valley Notified of Advance.

The firemen in the employ of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company have been granted a substantial increase in wages.

The wage scale committee met at Pittston last month and adopted a new scale of wages. Practically a demand of a general increase of 3 cents per hour was requested for a 12-hour day. With but few exceptions the firemen have been granted an increase of 3 cents per hour.

The firemen are divided into various classes all over the Lehigh system. The following is the schedule of wages to be paid, to take effect Aug. 15. Mine and yard firemen's wages are advanced but 5 cents per day, or from $2.15 to $2.20, but in addition to this their hours are reduced from 12 to 10 for a shift, thus corresponding with the hours worked by the trainmen. Firemen on the Packerton run have been advanced from $2.20 to $2.50 per day for a 12-hour shift, as at present. The latter belonging to "the pool." Passenger engine firemen have received an increase ranging from 19 to 45 cents per shift. Firemen running from Mt. Carmel to Bethlehem are advanced $3.15 to $3.64 per shift. From Hazleton to Mauch Chunk and Mt. Carmel, $3.00 to $3.30 per shift.

Firemen employed on the big compound engines at Delano have been advanced from $2.40 to $2.60 per shift.

POMONA GRANGE 23.

Report of Recent Meeting Held at LeRaysville Borough.

OPPOSE GRANGE BANKING.

Third Quarterly Meeting of the County Organization Was Well Attended and Much Interest Manifested—The Program in Detail.

The third quarterly meeting of the Pomona Grange of Bradford and Sullivan counties met with Eastern Bradford Grange at LeRaysville, Aug. 23-24, 1907. Being held in a section comparatively new to grange work the attendance was somewhat smaller than usual, but each session was interesting and will become of practical value just so far as the lessons taught are put into actual practice.

Dinner on Friday was served on the Congregational church lawn, no effort being spared to give the visitors a hearty, cordial welcome.

The morning session was taken up with reading minutes of last meeting; and reports of subordinate Granges, nearly all of which are in a healthy condition, and increasing in membership.

The afternoon session was a public meeting. All arrangements had been made for holding it on the Congregational church lawn, but as the day was windy it was thought better to hold it inside the church. Opened with music, after which Rev. Magee Pratt, pastor of the church, extended to the visitors a formal welcome in well chosen words. Response by N. D. Snyder of Spring Hill. The speaker of the day, Dr. Thomas F. Hunt of State College, dean of the school of agriculture, was then introduced and held the close attention of the audience for a time. (The address of Mr. Hunt was printed last week.)

After a song by Herbert Titus, A. M. Cornell was called for, and responded in his usual happy and earnest manner. A recitation by Claude Gorham and a song by Miss Helen Titus were well rendered. Hon. Louis Piollet was called for and spoke a good word for the farmers. F. N. Moore of Orwell, was present and was asked to speak. He warns the farmers against belittling their occupation; others judge us by what we think of ourselves.

Adjourned for fifth degree.

Friday Evening.

Meeting opened with music, followed by recitation by Miss Jennie Moore, and Song by Howell Powell, "Sweet Blue Grass Home." Discussion, "Are farmers as a class as successful as other business classes?" Opened by H. G. Newell. He thinks they are in some ways and are making progress along certain lines which will soon entitle the farmer to an affirmative answer to this question. A solo by Herbert Titus, and a recitation by Miss May Moore, who responded to an encore. Carleton Stevens delivered an essay on "History of Education," which showed deep study and careful preparation. Miss Helen Moore favored the audience with a song and encore. Hon. George Moscrip and Hon. R. S. Edminston were called for and both talked a short time on the work of the last legislature.

Closed with a song by the grange.

Saturday Morning.

Opened with music and recitation by Miss May Moore. Grange insurance took the attention for a time, when the resolution committee made the following report which was adopted as read:

Resolved, That we are opposed to the extravagent expenditure of the public money and that we demand of our county officials a more economical use of same.

Resolved, That this Pomona Grange does not sanction or approve the method used by our Worthy State Master W. F. Hill, in organizing the chain of Grange Banks, as he did not properly place the matter before the State Grange to be voted upon.

Resolved, That this Pomona Grange return a vote of thanks to the trustees of the Congregational church of this place for the use of their building during this Pomona meeting.

Resolved, That we as Grangers return a hearty vote of thanks to the United Workers of this church for the elegant manner in which we were taken care of at meal time during the first day of this meeting.

Resolved, That this Pomona Grange extend a vote of thanks to Eastern Bradford Grange for the cordial manner in which we have been entertained during this meeting.

Signed: Asa S. Stevens, Louis Piollet, Claude S. Gorham, L. M. Atwood, L. S. Taylor, Mrs. N. D. Snyder, Mrs. L. W. Pratt.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. Moscrip, and adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Pomona Grange that the name "Grange" should not be affixed to banks now being organized in this state under the name of "Grange Banks."

This business brought the meeting past the hour for adjournment and the session was brought to a close. The next meeting wil be held with Wysauking Grange in November. Mrs. J. S. Mott, secretary.

BOLD BURGLARS.

Rob Sayre Store and Carry Away $600 Worth of Fall Suitings.

Sayre was the scene of a bold and sensational robbery Sunday night or Monday morning. Peters' merchant tailoring establishment was looted during the night and about $600 worth of fall and winter suitings taken.

Mr. Peters had just put in a fine new stock of fabrics for men's suits, and had made all preparations for a busy season. Evidently the burglars drove up to the store, and loaded the cloth, which was in bolts into the wagon and then drove away. There is no clew to the burglars, and all Sayre is agog over the robbery, which is one of the boldest and most unique ever pulled off in that village.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Girl's Three Quarter Coat Designed by May Manton—No. 5760.

The long shoulder effect is apparent in the garments of the younger contingent as well as those of the grownups, and this little coat exemplifies it in an altogether charming and novel way. In the illustration the material is blue broadcloth, and the trimming consists of the material embroidered in dots of various sizes, the work being executed with very heavy thread, while the edges are piped with velvet. But for immediate wear white serge and soft finished pique will be charming as well as the lightweight cloth, although this latter material in such bright colors as the blue and red is greatly in vogue. A little later the same model will be found admirable for serge, cheviot and all materials of a similar sort.

The coat is distinctly novel and is made with a little body lining in which the full sleeves are inserted together with the fronts and the back of the coat proper. These last are cut with shoulder extensions and are arranged over and joined to the body lining. The oddly shaped collar finishes the neck, and there are pretty as well as convenient patch pockets.

The quantity of material required for the medium size (10 years) is 4 yards 27, 2⅝ yards 44 or 2¼ yards 52 inches wide.

Sizes for children of 6, 8, 10 and 12 years of age.

WILL RUN THE RIFTS.

Sayre Man Has Launched Motor Boat Built for Shallow Water.

The Sayre Times-Record tells the following which will be of great interest to those with a fondness for the river, and the many pleasures which boating on the Susquehanna affords:

'W. T. Goodnow launched a boat in the waters of the Susquehanna river Thursday that is unique in construction and if it proves ultimately to be successful it will possibly revolutionize the present plans on which river boats are built.

"There is one great difficulty in running motor boats on the Susquehanna river. It is necessary to have the propeller below the water line and thus the boats have too great a draught. As a result motor boats cannot be run over shallow rifts. The new boat just launched was made to overcome this difficulty. It is 22 feet in length and carries an engine of two and a half horse power. It's propeller wheel is 10 inches in diameter, but in spite of this fact the boat is only made to draw five and a half inches of water. At the back of the boat is what Mr. Goodnow calls a 'tunnel' in which the propeller works.

"The 'tunnel' is hood shaped and covers the propeller on all sides. It was planned with the thought that when the propeller works it will throw water upward, drive out the air and water will completely fill the vacum. Thus the tunnel will be full of water and the propeller will be completely covered with water. In other words the propeller will be covered with 10 inches of water in spite of the fact that the boat only draws five and a half inches. When the plans for the new boat were announced it was argued that while the propeller would work in 10 inches of water, still this would be of but little service for as the water left the wheel it would strike against the rear of the tunnel and rtard the forward movement.

"After the boat was launched Thursday it was decided by Mr. Goodnow and Charles Codett who built it that it is a success. But they decided that a few changes would be necessary. The rear of the tunnel at present rests three inches deep in water and it will be cut-off until it is only three-quarters of an inch below water line. It is acknowledged that the rear of the tunnel retards the forward movement of the boat but it is thought that it will develop a speed of six knots per hour, while without the tunnel and with the wheel submerged by it being lowered it would probably make eight knots. Thus argue the makers of the unique boat only two knots per hour are lost but the boat will be able to go over rifts.

Blue Laws and Fussing.

Last week, Mayor Lewis Boyer of Dubois, issued a sweeping Sunday closing order which prohibits running within the city limits after 9 o'clock a. m., street cars, private vehicles, the sale of Sunday papers, singing of paid church choirs and the playing of church organs by paid organists. The sweeping order of the mayor is aimed at supporters of the Sunday law with which he is not in sympathy. Despite the mayor's stringent mandate, newspapers were sold on Sunday, livery stables hired out teams and one restaurant was kept open selling sandwiches and coffee and giving away ice cream. No complaints were made to the mayor and he says that he will not act unless information is made before him.

Serious Accident.

N. S. Weaver met with a bad accident Monday evening, while driving from Dushore to his home in the township says the Dushore Review. He had his team hitched to a harvesting machine and when near B. Drugan's they became frightened at something in the road and ran away. Mr. Weaver was thrown from the seat and it is supposed that the wheels of the harvester passed over him, breaking one of his legs, and forcing the end of the broken bone through the flesh. He was also injured about the head and chest. Aid was summoned and the unfortunate man was removed to his home and surgical aid was procured.

TELEPHONE TALK STORED UP.

Machine Designed for That Purpose Has Been Perfected.

A machine that stores up telephone conversation and delivers it to the proper person at any time, either a day or a century after it is recorded, is a wonder of the age and is one of the many strange devices that will be seen at the national business shows to be held in New York and Chicago this year. This particular device adds another arm to the business world and actually works wonders.

When a firm or an individual calls up, if there is no one in the office to answer the call, this device raises the arm that holds the receiver and by means of a record notifies the person of that fact and states further that the conversation will be recorded if talked into the transmitter at the other end. A message is talked into the telephone and is recorded. Others are recorded in the same manner; the numbr that can be taken is limitless. When the office man returns to his desk he takes up the 'phone, turns a small switch, the record reels backward automatically, the machine begins to talk and delivers every message just as it was left.

These records may be put away and reproduced at any time, the business man having an accurate and perfect record of every transaction he has made over the 'phone. No need for an office boy to look after this detail, no necessity of employees about the office dropping their work to answer 'phone calls or becoming familiar with certain details not meant for them. The national business shows, where this device will be demonstrated to the public will be held at Madison Square Garden in New York, Oct. 12 to 19, and a month later, Nov. 9 to 16, the show will be seen at the Chicago Coliseum.

ACTION TO ANNUL MARRIAGE

By Recently Wedded Wife of Indicted Binghamton Custodian.

Alleging that she was deceived into marriage and that the ceremony was hastened in order that he might become possessed of a part of the large amount of money which she possesses Mrs. Elizabeth Rich Back, according to report, is to start an action during the coming week to annul her marriage to Arthur W. T. Back, says the Binghamton Republican.

Mr. Black is clerk of the board of supervisors and custodian of county property and buildings. Since the marriage he has seven times been indicted on the charge of forgery and grand larceny.

Mr. and Mrs. Back were married at the home of Mrs. Back on the evening of June 6, by Rev. G. Parsons Nichols and the ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. Back's relatives. Before her marriage to Mr. Back she was the widow of William L. Griswold, who died several years ago and who a short time before his death was the Republican candidate for mayor.

Vacationists Enjoy Themselves.

The annual excursion of the guests of the Forest Inn, at Eagles Mere, to Satterfield, took place Tuesday afternoon and was enjoyed by 300 who were, as always, the guests of President and General Manager Townsend, of the W. and N. B. railroad. Incidentally the birthday anniversary of Hon. Edgar R. Kiess, manager of the Inn, was celebrated. Last Friday evening the annual excursion of the 100 or more employes of the Forest Inn occurred. They had a special train to Hughesville, where they spent a jolly evening.

Owego's Overall Factory.

The Tioga Manufacturing company of Owego has now taken the lower as well as the upper floor of the Nichols building on Delpine street says the Record. A steam heating plant will be installed at once, and new machines will be added to the equipment as fast as new operators can be obtained. The call for female help is urgent, for the factory has had orders far in excess of the out-put ever since it began work last May.

BIG CROWD AT LAQUIN

Over 2,000 People Spend a Day Beneath the Pines.

A. D. DYE BIBLE CLASS PICNIC.

Five Hundred Towandians in the Throng That Enjoyed Themselves in Bradford County's Great Lumber Town.

Five hundred happy, hilarious Towanda people out for an airing went to Laquin yesterday with the A. D. Dye Bible class of the local Methodist Episcopal church, and enjoyed themselves with the 1500 other mortals who were spending a day beneath the pines. The excursion and picnic was a rip roaring success in every way and especially enjoyable happinesticingly speaking.

A special train on the S. & N. Y., carried the excursionists to the lumber town. On the out trip, the engine gave out near Monroeton, and the train was delayed until the arrival of another engine from Towanda.

Mills Closed Down.

The mammoth mills of the Pennsylvania lumber company which have made Laquin famous, were closed down for the day, and everybody joined in the merrymaking. Strangers were given the glad hand by Laquin citizens and citizenesses, and made to feel right at home. Nothing was too good for the strangers and before the day was half over there were no strangers, all were acquaintances and friends. Many carried their dinners and ate in the shade of the trees while many others were fed at the Laquin hotel over which Harry Bull a former Towandian presides as "mine host."

A Sad Incident.

There was but one sad incident during the day. That was the annihilation of the Towanda baseball team by the boys of the lumber town. They collided on the diamond during the afternoon and when the roar and fuss had subsided the score stood something like 14-2, Laquin having the 14.

Northrup, the boy wonder, the heaver from Bucknell, he of the twists, bends and fuzzy foolers was on the gummy gum for Towanda, and as usual the locals expected him to be the whole shooting gallery. Now Northrup has the calico on most occasions but Thursday was not one of them. Laquin started right in, kissed the ball all over the back woods, and piled up so many scores that the tally keeper was lost in the mazy maze. Following are the names of the Towanda team which met an awful fate which caused the weeping willows to weep and the piney pines to pine: Russell, cf; Bazzett, c and 2b; Northrup, p; Dowd, 3b; Macfarlane, lf; Corbett, ss; Turner, 1b; Parks, c and 2b; Parsons, rf.

Here are the Laquin lads who did the diddings: Mull, 2b; Jennings, c; E. Rockwell, 1b; Dunfee, 3b; Trowbridge, cf; Eddy, lf; Gale, rf; Smith, ss; H. Rockwell, p.

Played to a Standstill.

Another enjoyable feature of the day, was the baseball game between the A. D. Dye Bible class of Towanda, and the Black Bible class of the Laquin M. E. church. The two teams played to a standstill and when train time rolled around, the score was tie, with no signs of a victory for either side. The game was exciting, amusing and added materially to the enjoyments of the day.

LeRaysville 'Bus Line.

The LeRaysville Times says: "For a long time it has been almost impossible to get to the railroad, or if you wished to come to LeRaysville to comfortably get here. It is now believed this difficulty has been overcome and in the future the people will be provided for in this respect. Fred VanOrman has been induced to put upon the road a first-class conveyance that will accommodate all. He intends to run a public conveyance from LeRaysville to Wyalusing, and to Nichols, for the convenience of the traveling public. He will each week on Monday drive to Nichols, on Tuesday to Wyalusing, on Thursday to Nichols, and on Saturday to Wyalusing."

Col. Horton Attended Reunion.

Col. J. H. Horton of Buffalo, who as lieutenant colonel led the 141st regiment during the closing months of the war, attended the reunion of the survivors at Monroeton Wednesday. The gallant colonel is no orator and had no place on the program but he was there as he was at the 23 previous reunions to shake the hands of the old veterans who followed him into the thickest of battle and helped make the 141st one of the most celebrated and honored of all the regiments that marched forth to do or die.

Building Clothes Pin Factory.

The new building for the clothes pin factory at Sonestown is being erected near Kester's mill. The factory recently destroyed by fire was some distance above town. The object in changing the location is to use the hardwood slabs from the saw mill as a part of the stock to be manufactured.—Dushore Herald.

ULSTER WON IN A PITCHERS BATTLE.

Took Fourth Game of Series After a Ten Inning Struggle.

After ten innings of the fastest kind of ball playing on the East Side grounds Tuesday afternoon, Ulster won the fourth game of the series from Towanda by the score of 1-0. This gives Ulster three of the four games played, and the best of the series.

Ulster came to the county seat with seven men and a boy to do battle with their rivals. Hullet Turner, of the postoffice force having a few minutes off between mails, was induced to go in and catch for the visitors, and he acquitted himself with great credit, proving that as a backstop, he is right there. Davidson was on the rubber for Ulster, and Rockwell of Laquin pitched for Towanda. It was a pitchers battle, pure and simple, with honors about evenly divided. Davidson struck out 11 men and allowed five hits, while Rockwell only sent seven men to the bench by the air route, but evened up matters by allowing only three scratch hits.

Both teams played gilt edged ball all through, and but one or two men reached third base during the game. Towanda lost the game by errors and poor base running, having a man on third and only one out, yet the runner never crossed the plate, even with the ball in deep center on a fly hit. Lewis scored the winning run for Ulster in the tenth inning. He reached first on four balls, was advanced to second by a sacrifice, and galloped home on a wild throw over first base.

The features of the game was the battery work of Davidson and Turner and Rockwell and Bazzett, and the sensational catch of a pop fly by Macfarlane of Towanda.

Owing to the threatening weather, but few people turned out to see the contest which proved to be one of the best played in Towanda this season. The gate receipts were $7.20, not enough to pay the expenses of the Ulster team.

Following is the lineups: Towanda —Bazzett, c; Russell, cf; Northrup, ss; Dowd, 3b; Macfarlane, lf; Parks, 2b; Piollet, 1b; Parsons, rf; Rockwell, p. Ulster—Mallory, 2b; McQueen, 3b; Cranmer, 1b; Matthews, ss; Lewis, cf; Horton, lf; Davidson, p; Turner, c; Farrell, rf.

TROY FAIR.

September 10, 11, 12, 13, 1907—Concerning Exhibits.

Next week is the time set for holding the great Troy fair. Every effort has been put forth to make this year's fair equal or superior to those held in the past. Undoubtedly the exhibition of farm products will be small owing to the extreme dry weather. All other departments should be as well filled as in other years. Entries have been coming in nice so far, and as the books close on Saturday night of this week, those having articles that they can exhibit should see to it that their list is in the hands of the secretary at once. Don't depend upon your neighbor to make the display. If you have anything you can take that will add to the exhibition take it and let others see what you have in that line.

Barn Burned.

The barn belonging to Fred Williams which was located about three miles from Canton, on the mountain, was discovered on fire on Tuesday night about 11 o'clock. The fire alarm was sounded after some difficulty as the whistle didn't blow for some time to which a number of firemen responded but went back to bed after learning the location of the fire. The barn was insured for $1,800 through E. J. Cleveland.—Canton World.

Harold Morris Injured.

Harold Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Morris of Towanda, who is employed as a "hammer-boy" in the Lehigh blacksmith shop at Sayre, had a long gash cut in his forehead while at work Thursday afternoon. He was near a steam hammer, when a blow from the hammer hurled a small piece of steel through the air and against his head. The injury was treated at the hospital.

Deadly Headache Powders.

Headache powders are a dangerous thing to take into the system, as Mrs. Julia F. Hanrahan of New York city, a Summer boarder at Stroudsburg, found Aug. 19. Having a violent headache she took a number of the tablets, which made her seriously ill. A physician was speedily summoned, but his services proved of no avail, and she died in a few hours in great agony.

Argument Against Sunday Ball Playing

A peculiar accident happened at a base ball game between Coleraine and Beaver Meadow on Sunday, when John Gallagher of that place and the star twirler of the team, fractured his arm midway between the elbow and shoulder, while throwing an inshoot. He was taken to the hospital, where the fracture was reduced, but it will be some time before he recovers the use of his arm.

Arthur Ackley of Monroeton, Frank Talada of Sayre, Charles and Edward Justin of Towanda, having been accepted for enlistment in the U. S. army at the Towanda recruiting station, will go to Fort Slocum, N. Y., for preliminary instructions, after which they will be ordered to Cuba.

LINES FROM LACEYVILLE.

Two Interesting Items Taken From Mac Ward's Messenger.

These two interesting items were clipped from this week's issue of G. B. Mac Ward's Messenger:

"G. D. Wright, carrier on route No. 37, hired his sub to go out the other day and paid him $2.50 Then he bought about $3 worth of fish lines, hooks, bait, etc., and maybe, etc., and went fussing around on the river, thinking he was a-fishing. Well, maybe he was but it's lucky that Shoemaker didn't see those three dinkey little fish that George sneaked up the back way with that evening."

"Last Saturday Fenton S. Gregory received a Carnegie Hero Medal, an elaborate affair, by the way, in a handsome leather case. The back of the medal bears the inscription, 'Awarded to Fenton S. Gregory who saved William F. Bohlayer from drowning, Laceyville, Pa., June 29, 1906.' But what is better, $2,000 has been set aside for the education of the young lad who risked his life to save that of a friend."

HIS THUMB DECAYING.

Dingman's Ferry Man in Peculiar Plight Over Snake Bite.

Elijah Clark of Dingman's Ferry Luzerne county, has about lost the thumb of his left hand because of amputation necessary from the decaying of the member by the bite of a rattlesnake on July 4. For eight days after the snake bite Mr. Clark was black all over his person, and bedfast. As he began to recover he noticed his thumb showed signs of decay.

To stop the progress of its destruction he cut off a part of his thumb tip, but the decay continued until he has severed almost the whole of it. Mr. Clark is a lumberman and catches snakes during a certain portion of the year as a business. He does not feel alarmed over any ill course the affection might take after his thumb has been entirely removed.

Improved Cells.

New cells are being constructed in the Luzerne county jail. Each cell will be of solid steel plate, with perforations two and one-quarter inches square. The floors of the cells will consist of a solid plate of steel. The others will be of cement. The ceiling will also be perforated to improve the ventilation. The heating is by steam, outside the cells, regulated by the attendants. It is also proposed to put a plate of serrated rustless metal on the top of the cell so as to prevent the prisoners from escaping. The metal plate will be constructed like the teeth of a harvester, V shaped, and sharpened so that if the prisoner should throw a rope over, the weight of the body of the escaping prisoner will cut the rope.

From Cover to Cover.

J. A. Record, one of Towanda's oldest and best known citizens, during the past six months has read the Bible through from cover to cover. This is certainly remarkable for a man of Mr. Record's age, he being in his 92nd year.
